

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

What do you and your friends like to do together?

Learning Outcome

Describe hypothetical situations in written and spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What do you and your friends usually do together?
- Are you doing anything with your friends in the near future?
- Next week? Next month?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about friendship, emotions and behavior.
- I can talk about future action.
- I can talk about what I will be doing or what I will have done.

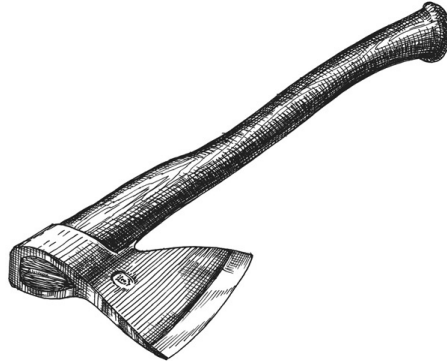

Let's Explore!

I had lots of chores to do everyday. I figure* they would take me hours!

* "Chores" are routine tasks usually in the home.

 To "figure" means to suppose or to think about something.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Vanessa : Well, speaking of friends, this friend has got you guys two tickets to a charity event this weekend.
- Peter : Oooooo. Exciting! I'm in.
- Sally : V. You're so generous. So where are we going ?
- Vanessa : We are going to go ... axe-throwing.
- Peter : Huh? I'm out.
- Sally : Um. What is it?
- Vanessa : It is like throwing darts, but instead of darts you throw axes. Doesn't it sound amazing?
- Peter: Nope. Still out.
- Vanessa: Peter! Listen! You get into teams; five people a team and you play and keep score. It will be extraordinary and it is for a good cause.
- Sally: When is it?
- Vanessa: This Sunday. It starts at 1:00 p.m.
- Sally: I can go. I will have finished all my work on Saturday and I figure I'll have done all my chores by 10:00 a.m. on Sunday.
- Vanessa: Good. The tickets will have arrived by Friday.
- Peter: And when will our team axes and axe-throwing shirts be here?
- Vanessa: You are right. He is a jerk. C'mon Peter. What else are you going to be doing on Sunday?
- Peter: Well, let's see. On Sunday at 1:00 p.m., I will be on my sofa and I will be planning to either take a nap or eat a snack. Right now. It's a toss up.
- Vanessa: Oh. Didn't I mention that the tickets are on the house?
- Peter: Ooooo. I'm in again.
- Vanessa: You are truly baffling.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa and Sally behave and treat themselves as real friends.

Instructions: Read the sentences aloud. Compare yourself to a partner. Correct each other.

1. This friend has got you guys two tickets to a charity event this weekend.
2. You're so generous.
3. Doesn't it sound amazing?
4. You are right. He is a jerk.
5. You are truly baffling.

Let's Practice!

Peter and Sally talk about their plans for the weekend.

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Cross out the incorrect word. Rewrite the sentence correctly below. Practice saying the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. So where are we go?

2. We will doing to going axe throwing.

3. It will being extraordinary and it is for a good cause.

4. It's started at 1:00 p.m.

5. What else are you doing to be going on Sunday?

Extension Activity

Do you have any plans with your friends?

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write about some future plans you have made with friends. It can be real or imaginary.
- Answer questions like: What are you doing? When will you go? Who will you be going with? What kind of activities will you be doing? What is the timetable?
- Use your answers to write up your plans using the Future Tenses.
- Your description of your plan should be 100 words.
- Read your description aloud to a partner and compare stories.
- Who has the more interesting plan?

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I talk in details about future plans with friends.

☐ ☐

I write the full information about my plans in 100 words.

☐ ☐

I use future tenses to talk about plans.

☐ ☐

I share my written piece with a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- extraordinary (adjective): extremely good or impressive e.g. Axe throwing is extraordinary.
- chores (noun): a routine or minor duties or tasks
e.g. I figure I'll have done all my chores by 10:00 a.m. on Sunday.
- axe (noun): a hand tool with one side of its head forged and sharpened to a cutting edge e.g. We are going to go axe throwing.
- toss up (noun): a situation in which there is no clear right choice or in which what will happen is not known e.g. Right now, it's a toss up.
- on the house (expression): given away free by a merchant
e.g. Didn't I mention that the tickets are on the house?
- baffling (adjective): making great mental demands; hard to comprehend or solve or believe e.g. You are truly baffling.

Learning Points

The Future

You can use four different tenses to talk about the future.

When you talk about things that are not decided or when you make a decision or an observation at the moment of speaking for the future, you use the modal will.

When you ask about intentions, you use be going to.

When you talk about things that are arranged, on the agenda or booked for the future, you use the Present Continuous tense.

When you talk about something scheduled, you use the Simple Present.

Will	It will be extraordinary and it is for a good cause.
Going to	We are going to go axe-throwing. What else are you going to be doing on Sunday?
Present Continuous	So where are we going?
Simple Present	It starts at 1:00 p.m.

Examples:

- And when will our team axes and axe-throwing shirts be here?
- What else are you going to be doing on Sunday?

Learning Points

The Future Continuous and Future Perfect Tenses

You use the Future Continuous tense to talk about an action that's happening at a specific time in the future.

When you use the Future Continuous, the action will have started before that moment (4 p.m.) in the future, and it will continue beyond that moment (4 p.m.).

For example:

I will be working at 4 p.m. tomorrow.

The person will start work at some point in the future and be working at 4 p.m. It is not clear when the person will stop working.

You use the Future Perfect tense to talk about an action in the future which comes before another action in the future.

When using the Future Perfect, you can sometimes think of the Future Perfect as similar to the Present Perfect tense. However, you are looking into the future.

For example:

You can call me at the office after 8 a.m. I will have got to work by 8.

The train will depart the station at 9 a.m. You will arrive at the station at 9:15 a.m. When you arrive, the train will have left.

Look at the chart for the structure of the Future Continuous and Future Perfect tenses:

Name	Structure	Example
Future Continuous	will (not) + be + v-ing	On Sunday at 1:00 p.m., I will be laying on my sofa.
Future Perfect	will + have + past participle	I'll have done all my chores by 10:00 a.m. on Sunday.

Examples:

- On Sunday at 1:00 p.m., I will be on my sofa and I will be planning to either take a nap or eat a snack.
- I will have finished all my work on Saturday.
- The tickets will have arrived by Friday.
- When will our team axes and axe-throwing shirts be here?

