

Instructor: ..... Date: .....

Learner: ..... Regional Branch: .....

Program: ..... Center: .....

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Who are your best friends and why?

Learning Outcome

Describe situations in spoken interactions according to work and social contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I talk about friendship, emotions and behavior.
- I can talk about future action.
- I can talk about what I will be doing or what I will have done.

Ask your partner:

- What qualities does a best friend have?
- What sort of things cause friends to have a falling out?

Let's Explore!

Fifty years of marriage is a very impressive milestone***.

* A "milestone" is an action or event marking a significant change or stage in development.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Peter: Ok Vanessa. Who was your best friend when you were growing up?
- Vanessa: Honestly, I got along best with my cousin Cindy. We were very close.
- Peter: Are you guys still really tight knit?
- Vanessa: I talk to her once a week, either by phone or on social media. In fact, she told me that next week we will have been friends for over 25 years.
- Sally: That is adorable. What a cool milestone.
- Vanessa: Yeah, we're getting together next month. I'm really looking forward to it. At this time next month we will be laughing and giggling like we are 12-year-old girls again. We are going to have so much fun together!
- Sally: Quiet Peter!
- Peter: I didn't say anything!
- Sally: You were about to. It was a preemptive strike.
- Peter: Nice. So V. What will you do on Sunday?
- Vanessa : Well, the event kicks off at 1:00 p.m sharp so we will need to get there a little early. At 10:30, Sally will be finishing up her chores, so you guys should come by the restaurant for brunch and then we can head over to the event from there.
- Sally: That sounds perfect.
- Vanessa: Hopefully by then we will have gotten two more people to be on our team.
- Sally: Right. The mystery partners have yet to be revealed.
- Vanessa: Any suggestions?
- Peter: How about lumberjacks? What? I hear they're ok!

Let's Practice!

Vanessa and Peter talk about their friends.

Instructions: Read the dialogue in page 2 again. Select the correct answer for each case. Practice your pronunciation reading the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. Vanessa expressed that she and her cousin
  - ☐ were in good terms
  - ☐ were very close
  - ☐ were along
2. Peter wanted to know if they continue to be
  - ☐ tight knit
  - ☐ close friends
  - ☐ knitters
3. Vanessa wanted to express that she is really excited about meeting
  - ☐ up with her friend
  - ☐ she is looking for her friend
  - ☐ she is having lunch
4. Peter wanted to say that he was not
  - ☐ anticipating anything
  - ☐ avoiding anything
  - ☐ saying anything
5. Vanessa wants to
  - ☐ ask her friends to join the team
  - ☐ know who the mystery partners are
  - ☐ find the mystery partners

Let's Practice!

Vanessa and Peter continue with their weekend planning.

Instructions: Read the clues on the left. Tick the correct box in the table. There is only one answer per clue.

|                                                  | Not yet decided | Intentions | Arrangements | Schedules | Thinking ahead |
|--------------------------------------------------|-----------------|------------|--------------|-----------|----------------|
| 1. Yeah, we are getting together next month.     |                 |            |              |           |                |
| 2. We are going to have so much fun together.    |                 |            |              |           |                |
| 3. Nice, so what will you do on Sunday?          |                 |            |              |           |                |
| 4. Well, the event kicks off at 1:00 p.m. sharp. |                 |            |              |           |                |
| 5. We will need to get there a little early.     |                 |            |              |           |                |

Extension Activity

Who's in your circle of friends?

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Brainstorm with a group all the qualities that make a good friend.
- Then make a list of negative characteristics that people have.
- Individually, draw a large circle.
- Put three names in the circle and write one name outside the circle.
- The three names inside are friends. Write 4 to 5 characteristics or qualities that keep them in your circle.
- For the person outside of the circle write negative qualities or characteristics that they possess that keep them outside your circle.
- Share with a partner and ask questions.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I brainstorm vocabulary to help describe people.

☐ ☐

I analyze friendships and reflect on why I am friends with certain people and not with others.

☐ ☐

I share my thoughts and feelings with a partner about qualities and characteristics.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to look forward to (expression): to feel excited about something that is going to happen in the future
e.g. We are getting together next month. I'm really looking forward to it.
- tight knit (adjective): emotionally close
e.g. Are you guys still really tight knit?
- milestone (noun): an important event in the progress of something e.g. What a cool milestone.
- to reveal (verb): to make something or somebody known e.g. We're going to reveal the mystery partners next week.
- lumberjack (noun): a person whose job is to cut down trees for wood e.g. John works in the forest as a lumberjack.
- to head over (verb): to move toward a specific destination
e.g. We can head over to the event from there.

Learning Points

The Future Continuous and Future Perfect Tenses

You use the Future Continuous tense to talk about something that will be in progress at a specific time in the future.

When you use the Future Continuous, the action will have begun before that moment but it will not have finished yet.

For example:

I will be sleeping at 8:00 p.m. tonight.

The person will start sleeping at some point in the future and be sleeping at 8 p.m.

You use the Future Perfect tense to talk about a future action or event that will already be completed by a certain time in the future. You use the Future Perfect, to show the time relationship between two future events or actions. You can use already and yet to emphasize which event will happen first.

For example:

You can pick me up at 5:00 p.m. I will have already finished my work by the time you arrive.

*Please don't call me before 8:00 a.m. I won't have woken up yet!

Look at the chart for the structure of the Future Continuous and Future Perfect tenses:

| Name              | Structure                     | Example                                                                                                      |
|-------------------|-------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Future Continuous | will (not) + be + v-ing       | At this time, next month we will be laughing and giggling like we are 12-year-old girls again. |
| Future Perfect    | will + have + past participle | Next week we will have been friends for over 25 years.                                         |

Examples:

- In fact, she told me that next week we will have been friends for over 25 years.
- At this time next month we will be laughing and giggling like we are 12-year-old girls again.
- At 10:30, Sally will be finishing up her chores.
- Hopefully by then we will have gotten two more people to be on our team.

Learning Points

The Future

You can use four different tenses to talk about the future.

When you talk about things that are not decided or when you make a decision at the moment of speaking for the future, you use the modal will.

When you ask about intentions, you use be going to.

When you talk about things that are arranged, on the agenda or booked for the future, you use the Present Continuous tense.

When you talk about schedules, you use the Simple Present.

|                           |                                                   |
|---------------------------|---------------------------------------------------|
| Will               | What will you do on Sunday?                |
| Be going to        | We are going to have so much fun together! |
| Present Continuous | We are getting together next month.        |
| Simple Present     | The event kicks off at 1 p.m. sharp.       |

